Introduction

As the fourth-largest economy in ASEAN, Vietnam has emerged in recent years as a preferred destination for enterprises in the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area seeking to expand their overseas production footprint. With its well-established industrial ecosystem across electronics manufacturing, electronics processing and smart assembly, automotive parts supply chains, and export-oriented manufacturing, Vietnam is becoming an ideal base for enterprises pursuing business transformation and strengthening their global supply chain.

Organised by the Hong Kong Productivity Council (HKPC) and fully supported by Bank of China (Hong Kong) Limited, the "Future Vietnam: Hanoi Business Delegation on Digital Transformation and Industrial Innovation" will feature visits to leading high-tech enterprises in Vietnam, enabling Hong Kong companies to gain first-hand insights into the local business environment and market trends. The delegation will also meet with local chambers of commerce, industry organisations and associations to explore Vietnam’s latest developments in digital transformation, technological innovation and industrial development, while building high-value business connections and capturing new opportunities in the ASEAN market.
